

Black Farming in New York

Screening of the Documentary

BLACK FARMER

Discussion Following with Andell Jones - Triple J Farms

Wednesday, October 16 2024
5:30PM-7:00PM

Multicultural Resource Center
(MRC) Lounge, Library South -
G500

This short documentary tells the history and story of the Triple J Farm near Windsor, New York. It is one of a few black owned and operated farms in the Southern Tier of New York State. (<https://triplejfarmnyc.com/>)

This event is being co-sponsored by the LOCO Festival, The Harriet Tubman Center for Freedom and Equity, Multicultural Resource Center, Center for Civic Engagement, Sustainable Communities TAE, Office of Sustainability

If you anticipate a need for disability-related accommodations to attend or participate in the event or would like additional information please contact Barrett Brenton, brenton@binghamton.edu, Center for Civic Engagement.